AN INVENTORY OF THE PROPERTY OF THE INTEREST IN THE COMING REPORT OF THE BANKRUPT PALISADES AMUSEMENT COM-PANY-PLANS TO REALIZE AS MUCH AS POSSIBLE FROM ITS RESOURCES.

A meeting of creditors of the bankrupt Palisades Amusement and Exhibition Company, of Weehawken, N. J., was held in the Second National Bank Building, Hoboken, yesterday afternoon, to hear a report from a committee appointed to prevent the sacrifice of the company's personal property by private sale, and to inspect and make an inventory of the property. It had been alleged that Theo-philus Butts, of the First National Bank, Hoboken receiver of the company, had agreed to sell to Herman Walker, a real estate operator and justice of the peace at Guttenburg, who was one of the originators and a director of the company, all its personal property for only $1,500, when at a low valuation it was worth many times that amount.

The creditors represented yesterday and the amounts due them were as follows: A. J. Symes & Co., for lumber. $1,500; Pain's Fireworks Company, $1,94753; The S. M. McFadden Company, $281; Curry & Zadd, $140 59; Abraham Brothers, $187, Seligman & Well, $742.69; Perry E. Hall, $75; Du-parquet H. and M. Company, $291.55; August Bremer, $149.82; The Tribune, for advertising, $24.90; "The Times," for advertising, $156.90; "The Press," for advertising, $215.50; "The World," for advertising, $285.40; "The Commercial Advertiser," for advertising, $429 25; total, $7,358 48.

A. J. Symes reported that Chancellor McGill had topped the private sale and had ordered that all the real and personal property of the company be sold at public auction on the company's grounds, known as "Eldorado." The committee presented a probably have to be classed as realty and sold for the benefit of the Hudson Trust Company, which held mortgages for $200,000 on the land and buildings. The estimate of the articles in the inventory placed the minimum value of the personal property at $8,040 and the doubtful or real property at

Mr. Symes said that he and Captain Curry were among the original directors of the company, which ewed him personally $2,600, and Captain Curry $1.462 90. The first mortgage on the realty was fo $150,000, and the second for $50,000, but only $40,000 of the bonds for the latter had been issued. The debts of the company amounted to $65,000, of which $25,000 was secured by second mortgage bonds, and $25,000 was unsecured. No chattel mortgage had ever neen placed on the personal property. He had been informed that Mr. Waiker and some other directors had formed a syndicate to buy in all the property, and make another start in the spring. Mr. Waiker had bought up $2,000 of the company's bonds at 54 cents on the dolar, but it was doubtful whether his purchase would stand a legal test. The company had seventeen acres of beautiful land, and if it could be laid out in lots and sold in small parcels Mr. Symes believed an equity could be realized by the general creditors. He proposed that those present should at least join together to bid up the personal property to a reasonable price, and buy it in, if necessary, as trustees for the creditors, each of whom could agree to pay a certain percentage of the cost of the property at auction. This plan, if carried out, would secure for the general creditors more than they could expect to receive if a new syndicate, which did not include them, got hold of the property.

After long discussion, it was decided to adjourn until 1:30 p. m. on the day of the sale, when an opportunity would be given for all creditors who may desire to join a syndicate which Mr. Symes and Captain Curry will form.

The receiver's inventory, submitted to Chancellor McGill on October 17, 1882, placed the assets at $24,2442, and the liabilities at $41,249.57. According to the company's books, the real estate, buildings and personal property cost $33,156.57. The electric plant was inventoried at $53,400. debts of the company amounted to $65,000, of which

THE CONTRACT LABOR LAW NOT VIOLATED-MRS. HART'S PHILANTHROPY RAISES A TEMPEST IN A TEAPOT.

The case which the Ellis Island authorities thought had against ex-Postmaster-General Wanamaker for violation of the Contract Labor law faded and vanished away yesterday upon investigation. The true story is simply this: Mrs. Ernest Hart, the wife of Dr. Hart, of London, a well-known physician and scientist, is, lke Lady Aberdeen, in-terested in philanthropic work in Ireland. She is the head of the Donegal Industrial Fund, which seeks to restore cottage labor in Ireland, such as lace making and the weaving of homespun and linen Aberdeen's Irish village at the Chicago Fair was supplemented by Mrs. Hart's Donegal Castle, where workers from her Donegal industrial settle-ment strove to interest people in the cottage industries of Ireland by their weaving and lace making. ave. and Fifty-seventh-st., will go out to-day. The tries of Ireland by their weaving and lace making.

When the Fair closed, Mrs. Hart thought it would be a good thing to continue the exhibition for a time in Philadelphia. Mr. Wanamaker kindly effered her, free of charge, an unoccupied portion of his big store. Mrs. Hart had some imitation Irish cottages rigged up, and continued her exhibition until trecently, when she closed it and sent the workers back to Donegal. It so happened that when the exhibition closed at Chicago four of the lacemakers were homesick, and so she sent them home at once, asking that four more be sent out to take their place while the exhibition was in Philadelphia. They came out, and when the exhibition in Philadelphia was ended she gave them tickets to return to their homes in Donegal. The four came to New-York, and managed to lose their bagsage and miss their ship. While searching for their bagsage they ran across a contract labor inspector who asked them where they had been working. When they replied at Wanamaker's, he at once conjured up the vision of a big sensation, and took them to Ellis 'sland, where they are detained.

and, where they are detained.

Aside from allowing Mrs. Hart a place for her exhibition, Mr. Wanamaker had nothing to do with the matter. Mrs. Hart believes that the paths of philanthropy are not always paths of pleasantness. Sae has engaged the firm of Evarts, Choate & Beaman as her lawyers in the matter.

STATE INSURANCE DEPARTMENT ON THE UNITED STATES MUTUAL ACCIDENT

ASSOCIATION REVIVED. The resignation of James R. Pitcher as secretary and general manager of the United States Mutual Accident Association has revived interest in insurance circles in the forthcoming special report of the Shate Insurance Department. Deputy Superintendent Shannon has been working on the books of the company and its allied concern, the Investment Company of New-Jersey, since De-cember last. It was said yesterlay that the report would be finished and made public in a few

Mr. Pitcher's resignation is fixed for February 20, but he has not for more than a week been acting in the places which he nominally holds. Surprise is expressed by insurance men that Mr. Pitcher's action should have been taken before the report of the Insurance Department, for "The Chronicle," an insurance journal of this city, has been attacking the two concerns and its insinuations are believed to have led to the investigation by the State authorities. These attacks have been largely directed personally against Mr. Pitcher, but those who will speak for the United States by the State authorities. It largely directed personally against Mr. Pitcher, but those who will speak for the United States Company assert their confidence in him in spite of the resignation, which is based on the ground of ill headth.

"The Chronicle" charged that the United States Mutual Accident Association had lost about 9,000 members in 1894, and that the contract between the company and the investment Company of New-Jersey was "unbusiness-like, one-sided and opposed to the interests of the members of the Accident Association." A reporter was referred by the treasurer of the Accident Association to Henjamin C. Nevius, who said he was not connected with the association in any specific capacity. Mr. Nevius said that it was impossible for him to say whether Mr. Pitcher would have resigned on account of his health if these charges and the attack had not been made. He did not know that Mr. Pitcher looked like a very ill man. Mr. Nevius said that the charges were false and that neitner the aboolation nor the company had been wrecked by Mr. Pitcher or any one eise. Both were thoroughly solvent, although it was frue that the membership of the association was smaller than it was last year.

Mr. Nevius said that the investment company was organized by Mr. Pitcher in 1850 under a contract by which the company was to conduct all the business of an agency department and receive therefor 25 per cent of the total assessment income of the association. Out of this the company was to pay all the expenses of the agency department and it was also to guarantee to the association 20,000 new risks each year. The investment company was first capitalized at $600,000, and was subsequently reorganized with a capital of $1,500,000. Mr. Pitcher has not for a year or two heid even a contract from which Mr. Pitcher derived an income of about $50,000 a year. Mr. Nevius declared that the attacks were inspired by a man who was discharged as Mr. Pitcher's private secretary.

Favorable reports from other silk-ribbon weaving centres indicate that the demands of the weavers have been acceded to. The strikers in this city say that the jobbers and dealers will do a great deal to settle the strike in their favor by demanding goods for the Easter and spring trade.

RIVAL FACTIONS IN A CHURCH. The Bay Shore Methodist Church is split into two factions over an alleged insuit offered to the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Dixon, by the Parsonage 'ommittee a few days ago, Since Mrs. M. Thorne, who for sixteen years taught the infant class in the Sanday-school, was deposed to make room for the wife of Mr. Hubbs, there has been more or less feeling between the partisans of both women. Mr. Dixon, it is said, sided with the Thorne faction. The Parsonage Committee consists of Mrs. Penny, Mrs. Doxses and Mrs. Thurber. All are identified with the Thorne faction, but for the good of the society have made no demonstrations. Last week the parsonage Ritchen was covered with an old carpet by the committee. When Mr. Dixon got home he was forlows, and, tearing the carpet from the floor, he buried it into the back yard. Last Sunday, Presiding Eider Wing being at Bay Slore, a quarierty conference was held. After service the announcement was made that a new Parsonage Committee had been appointed by the conference to succeed Mrs. Doxsee, Mrs. Penny and Mrs. Thurbes. The Thorne faction denounced Mr. Dixon's action, and many of them left the church without waiting to hear if the Hubbs faction had been appointed. MORE TROUBLE CAUSED BY J. D. HALLEN. J. D. Hallen, the lawyer, of No. 96 Broadway, who suddenly disappeared on December 7 last, taking with him $75,000, left not only several crim-Inal suits in which he was implicated, a swarm of creditors and a destitute wife, but some angry clients as well. Hallen has been brought before the public prominently during the last two years, and his mode of procedure has been pretty thoroughly exposed. After the famous Myers divorce case which he was connected, and when a case of forgery was found against him, he remained comparatively quiet until the latter part of last year, when he obtained $2,000 through false representations from Mrs. Florence H. Caldwell. Affairs becoming rather too warm for comfort, he suddenly left town, but did not leave the money unlawfully acquired. Constant and thorough search has been made for him, but no clew to where he is has yet been found.

One of the complications caused by his disappearance concerns an actress, Miss Kate Gilbert, who is at present with the "Land of the Midnight Sun" Company. She says that she employed Hallen on January 7, 183, to begin action for her against Charles Frohman to recover $69 damages for breach of contract. She paid him a retainer at this time. Upon Hallen's disappearance Miss Gilbert applied to the City Court to appoint an attorney in his place, claiming that her affairs were much embarrassed, and that she had been caused much trouble and inconvenience on account of Hallen's actions. According to her expressed preference Judge Ehrlich appointed Howe & Hummel as substitutes.

The discovery was made by his wife and John Morrissey, a contractor. the left arm hanging over the wheel. By the side of the wheel stood a pail, which was half-full of blood. The position of the pail showed that the deed was a premeditated case of suicide. Schlomann was thirty-six years old, and lived with his wife and three children at No. 65 Pillings-st. He left his home Wednesday morning in good spirits and told his wife to have dinner at noon, after which they could take a sleigh ride. Mrs. Schlomann had the meal on time, but her husband did not appear. As the time for his return passed Mrs. Schlomann became irritated and anxious. When night came, she sought out friends, but none could give her any information. Vesterday the nearly distracted wife went to the stable at No. 47 Pillings-st., where her husband stabled his horse and wagen, and, meeting Mr. Morrissey, who shared half of the stable, told him of her husband's absence. Morrissey went to the part of the stable hired by Schlomann and found the door locked. He burst it open and was horrified to find the lifeless body of the man. When Mrs. Schlomann saw the body of her husband she swoomed, and fell to the stable floor. When she revived she was assisted home. The man had been complaining frequently of severe pains in his head. f the wheel stood a pail, which was half-full of
